“A few years ago, a house key went missing and Dan & Kathy were our unexpected but very welcome overnight houseguests.

The key that Dan would never misplace is that to the gates of Heaven, where he now resides with his Lord and Savior.

We, The Faithful, will be along soon Dan, as The Lord calls us, and will have a glorious reunion for eternity.

In Christ,

“ A house key went missing one night, resulting in Dan & Kathy being our surprise, but entirely welcome, overnight guests.

A key Dan won't misplace is that of Heaven's Gate. He's there now awaiting the rest of the Faithful and we look forward to that day when The Lord calls us Home, where we'll all be together again.

Yours, In Christ, Bill & Arlene Hazen

“ I didn't know Dan all that well. I am a former co-worker and friend of his wife, Kathy. The couple of times I did see him, he was a quiet, seemingly warm man with the biggest smile. Kathy and I go back many years at UCI, and we've remained friends in spite of distance. We share in this sadness, our loving soul mates passed within a day of each other. We will seek comfort in the days ahead and I believe our friendship will help. Rest in peace, Dan. You and Jim will bring your warmth, generosity and humor to a better place. Love,

“ I remember a time when my dad and I had a Clark Griswold/Rusty Griswold moment and we got to walk to a KOA camp to get gasoline for our car. Thank You dad for all the great memories.
